Buy Something.
About Money.

HOW TO celebrate the election.
Buy something.

Republicans and Democrats want see prosperity start. The way to start prosperity is to buy.

To start a dollar on its travels is almost as good as planting a tree and starting its growth.

Buy something today, the stores are open.

THIS COLUMN asked recently:
"What difference does it make whether the government signs its promise to pay on yellow paper called a bond, bearing interest, or on green paper, called 'currency' bearing no interest, since all the government has to offer is its promise to pay? It already has promised to pay more gold than there is in the whole world. Why is not the promise to pay on green paper as valuable as it would be on yellow paper provided the government did not promise more than it could pay?"

One of the ablest bankers in America writes:
"Paying the soldiers' bonus by issuing currency would destroy all confidence in the currency.
If the government gives indication of yielding to the temptation of issuing large amounts of fiat money, the public will instantly reject the currency. There will be a rush to convert it into gold, thus forcing the country off the gold basis."

That opinion comes from high authority, but still you ask, without advocating or decrying payment of the bonus:

"Why must the government insist on paying $100,000,000 a year in interest when it can pay, if it chooses, in nice new money?"

Whoever thinks that the "public would instantly reject the currency" should give the public a trial.
Why is it better to put out more bonuses than you can pay than to put out more currency than you can pay?

The average mind does not understand it.

IN ANCIENT days release of prisoners that had offended the ruler was looked upon as a sign of strength and benevolence.
Prisoners were set free when the king's daughter was married, an heir to the throne born, or a great victory won.

Mussolini, the powerful, has reached the amnesty stage, and in honor of long, successful Fascist rule, he released between five and twenty thousand prisoners.
Including 1,234 political prisoners. Mercy is proof of strength.

While Mussolini celebrates his successful rule, another powerful dictator, Stalin, of Russia, celebrates fifteen years of Sovietism with 50,000 troops parading in Moscow's "Red Square." Stalin and his chiefs sit on a reviewing stand, cheering and cheering. Below them, his body preserved against decay, lies Lenin in his mausoleum that millions of Russians visit as

VODREY CLOSE IN RACE FOR COUNTY PLACE

Salem Plurality Swings Vote Count
For Democrat.

AWAIT CANVASS

Hoover, White, Bett-man, Murphy Set Pace in Ballots.

Unofficial but complete returns from Columbiana county's 110 voting precincts, tabulated today, point to the election of Austin I.
Getz, Democrat, of Salem, and Leroy Rinehart, Republican, of East Liverpool, as commissioners, in Tuesday's national, state, district and county balloting.

Attorney Homer W. Hammond of Columbiana, defeated Attorney Blaine H. Cochran of East Liverpool for the probate judgeship.

The rest of the county Republican ticket, as well as the candidates for national and state offices, with the exception of David S.
Ingalls, were favored by the county votes.

Rinehart and Oliver C. Vodrey, also Republican, assumed the lead in the commission race in early returns but Getz, forged ahead as returns from the north end of the county were tabulated.
Getz received 16,841 votes, 1,456 ahead of Rinehart whose poll was 15,385. Vodrey was given 15,114, or 271 behind Rinehart, while Harvey McHenry, Democrat, of East Liverpool, received 13,668 ballots.

Cochran, given a lead of 456 votes over Hammond in East Liverpool, ran behind the Columbiana man in Salem, Lisbon and Wells-ville and, according to the unofficial returns, lost by 2,669 votes.
The count was: Hammond, 12,203;
Cochran, 9,534; Robert M. Patterson, 4,963, and Alvin Cullen, 416.

President Herbert Hoover led Franklin D. Roosevelt, 19,702 to 14, 354, a majority of 5,348. Governor White downed David S. Ingalls, his Republican opponent, by a vote of 16,974 to 16,428, a difference of 546.
Gilbert Bettman, Republican, of Cincinnati, led United States Senator Robert Bulkley, Democrat, of Cleveland, seeking re-election, by a vote of 17,731 to 14,148.

The successful candidates for county office, all Republicans, included: State representative, Mrs.
Ila Marshall Cronin; prosecuting attorney, George Lafferty of Lisbon; clerk of courts, John Noble, Lisbon; sheriff, Frank Ballantine of Salem; recorder, Mrs. Edith Elliott of Lisbon; treasurer, John
C. Litty of Salem; surveyor, Lloyd
C. Kirk of Lisbon and coroner, Ernest R. Sturgis of Wellsville.

Unofficial County Vote Republican nominees for the state supreme court and the district court of appeals were also winners in Columbiana county.
The unofficial county vote follows:

President—Roosevelt (D), 14,354,
Hoover (R), 19,702; Thomas (S), 1, 021; Reynolds (S. L.) 41, Upshaw
(P), 117; Foster (C), 86.

Governor—White (D), 16,974, Ingalls (R), 16,428; Sharts (S) 481, Woodhouse (S. L.) 30, Watkins
(P), 371, Marshall (C), 86.

Lieutenant-governor—Sawyer,
(D), 13,982; Palmer (R), 10,823.

POLICE QUELL ELECTION RIOT

Fight Follows Argument Near St.
Clairsville Early Today;
None Injured.

By The Associated Press.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Nov. 9.—
An election argument between a number of white and Negro youths near the courthouse shortly after midnight resulted in a free-for-all fight which was not quelled until deputy sheriffs used their night sticks.

Numerous persons suffered head injuries, but none required hospital treatment. Two men who had been arrested by sheriff's officers were released after being warned to return to their homes.

The argument started between a Negro and a white youth, and soon a gang of young men who had congregated near the courthouse took up the argument which soon brought on bricks and empty bottles.

MAN'S LEG FRACTURED.

Richard Green, 59, of 133 Rural lane, is recovering today in the City hospital from a fractured left hip, suffered when he fell in his home Tuesday. He was removed to the hospital in the Kelly ambulance where he was attended by Dr. F. F.
R. Harrison.

NEXT PRESIDENT OF UNITED STATES

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

IMHOFF LEADS MURPHY; LEWIS IS RE-ELECTED

Congressman, Seeking Eighth Term, Trails
In District.

With four precincts from Belmont county and one Jefferson county zone missing, Congressman Frank Murphy of Steubenville, seeking an eighth term, was trailing his Democratic opponent, Judge Lawrence E. Imhoff of St. Clairsville, in today's returns from Tuesday's election.

Unofficial returns from the five counties making up the district, give Imhoff 56,168 and Murphy 55,
329 or a lead of 848 for Imhoff
The Steubenville congressman carried Columbiana, Carroll and Harrison counties but trailed his opponent in Belmont and Jefferson.

The missing precincts, according to election officials, are not expected to make any change in the result as four of the five are in Judge Imhoff's home county where he obtained his greatest lead.

The vote by counties follows:

	Imhoff	Murphy
Columbiana	15,571	18,310
Belmont	19,244	14,244
Jefferson	15,436	13,917
Harrison	3,108	4,766
Carroll	2,809	4,053

Totals 56,168 55,329

Senator Earl Lewis, Republican, of St. Clairsville, seeking re-election, defeated Miss Marie Krim, of Martins Ferry, Democrat. Lewis carried Columbiana county, 18,982 to 12,251, and was also given a lead in Jefferson, Carroll and Harrison counties. Miss Krim carried Belmont county, 17,767 to 15,904, with four precincts missing.

KENTUCKY VOTE FOR ROOSEVELT

By The Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 9.—Kentucky county, the first to report in Kentucky's election, showed Franklin D. Roosevelt 561 and Herbert Hoover 45 votes today on the basis of five out of its 12 precincts.

State Constitutional Meet Plan Rejected

By The Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 9.—
With approximately two-thirds of the state's 8,678 precincts reporting the proposal to call a constitutional convention appeared to have been defeated.

The vote in 5,031 precincts was:

For 411,591; against 572,828.

HOOVER OFFERS AID TO WINNER

President "Dedicates Self to Helpful Effort."

By JOHN F. CHESTER,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 9.—
Herbert Hoover, the first president of the United States defeated for re-election since 1912, has promised President-elect Roosevelt to "dedicate myself to every possible helpful effort."

The chief executive who conceded defeat last night, was uncertain today as to his plans for the immediate future. He was considering seriously boarding his special train tonight for a record-breaking trip back to the White House.

Several of his aids, one of whom described him as "the tired man in America," have urged Mr. Hoover to take a rest. A battleship trip through the Panama canal was suggested. But the President has not decided finally what he will do.

President-elect Roosevelt, who straggled returns from the heavy vote in favor of Roosevelt were still coming into the Hoover home today when the President arose.

He announced his concession of the election to his Democratic opponent at 9:40 p. m. (12:40 a. m. in East Liverpool) last night in the midst of a stirring scene surrounding his home.

While a group of Stanford university students, on whose campus he lives, thronged the driveway of his home and while a score of his neighbors and friends waited in the living room, Mr. Hoover dispatched from his study the following telegram to Roosevelt, in the Bit-

VOTE PILES UP

Sawyer, Meyers, Duffy and Ferguson Are Leading.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 9.—
Ohio voters who returned Governor George White, a Democrat to the governorship, apparently provided him a Democratic state house of representatives but possibly gave him only an even break in the senate.

With only two senatorial districts missing the Democrats and Republicans had 15 senators each according to a tabulation compiled by Thomas E.
Bateman, clerk of the state senate. If the two districts go for either party that one will have control of the upper branch of the legislature, but if one is elected by each party the vote will be even.

Reports from 73 of the 135 seats in the state house of representatives gave the Democrats 48 and the Republicans 25.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 9.—While team mates of Governor George White on the state Democratic ticket fared well in Tuesday's election in Ohio, they did not come close to approximating the tremendous vote given the governor who was swept back into office on an ever rising tide of Democratic votes.

On returns from more than three fourths of the state's 8,678 precincts, one of the races on the state ticket was fairly close, State Auditor Joseph B. Tracy, Republican, seeking his fourth term, was pressing Daniel E. Butler, the Democratic candidate. Butler's lead was 8,271 in 6,293 precincts.

The remainder of the Democratically held substantial leads over the Republican opposition.
Their approximate pluralities were:
For lieutenant governor, Charles Sawyer 62,000 over Lee B. Palmer
(R.)

For secretary of state, George S.
Myers, 64,000 over George C. Brad-den (R.)

For treasurer of state, Joseph T.
Ferguson 26,900 over Treasurer
Harry S. Day (R.)

For attorney general, Herbert S.
Duffy, 19,000 over John W. Bricker
(R.)

Roosevelt's Lead 100,000

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt captured Ohio's 25 electoral college votes.

With more than three-fourths of the state's 8,678 precincts reported the New York executive had a lead of 80,451 over President Hoover.
His lead continued to mount as additional precincts came in, and if he maintains the same ratio he will carry Ohio's popular vote with a plurality of more than 100,000.

The Ohio presidential vote in 6,
561 precincts was: Roosevelt 942, 894; Hoover 862,443.

Governor George White, Democrat, who was re-elected to office two-year term as Ohio's chief executive, rolled up an amazing popularity over David S. Ingalls, wealthy young Cleveland man and Republican nominee. In 6,669 precincts White had doubled the lead held by Governor Roosevelt. His plurality was slightly less than 130,000. The vote was: White 978,161; Ingalls 808,514.

White Leads Ticket
This tremendous vote for White upset the calculations of the sharpest Ohio political observers. Prior to election day, it was the general belief that the veteran campaigner would be lucky to get by on Roosevelt's expected heavy vote. White reversed this idea and led his ticket.

G. O. P. Falls From Governor Chairs and Places in Congress

Gains for Anti-prohibitionists Seen as President Hoover, Apparently More Decisively Defeated Than Was Smith in 1928, Clings to Six States, Indicating 472 Electoral Votes for Winner.

By The Associated Press.

Marching resolutely in the parade which takes Roosevelt to the White House and Garner to the vice presidency, Democrats continued to mow down their opponents in numbers which became startling as the count of today's election neared its finish.

With the Democratic triumph for congressional control went mounting gains for anti-prohibitionists, while referenda on liquor regulation in 11 states showed the wet side ahead.

Out of congress, out of governor's chairs and minor offices, Republicans tumbled from coast to coast.

President Hoover, apparently more decisively defeated than was Alfred E. Smith in 1928, clung to a bare six states, indicating the possibility of an all-time record electoral vote of 472 for Roosevelt.

The latter's popular vote in 72,000 of the country's 119,000 election districts was 14,600,000—out of 25,000,000.

News of the landslide brought a chorus of optimistic reactions from foreign nations.

Democrats Win 18 Governors
Of 35 gubernatorial elections this year, the Democrats definitely had carried 18, taking seven from Republicans, Vermont and New Hampshire, Hoover states, returned Republican governors and only two more were leading in complete vote returns.

In congress, the Democrats clinched a 20-vote majority of the senate and appeared headed for two-thirds control of the house.

The Republican casualty list in congress was terrific. Smoot, Watson, Moses, Bingham, Jones—names to conjure with in the senate—all were defeated. These men were the heart of the party's "old guard."

The house toll was but a repetition.

President Hoover was leading in six states of the 48, carrying a handful of 59 electoral votes, and even in some of these his margin was very small. Connecticut, complete, was his by only 6,500 votes.

New Hampshire, also complete, was kept in line by a scant 3,500,
and on more than two million votes tallied in Pennsylvania, he had less than a 200,000 lead.

With 31 holdovers and 21 additional seats already in their column, the Democrats were assured of 52 senators in the next congress.

Forty-nine is necessary for a majority of the 96.

The Democrats swept Missouri's thirteen house seats, all elected at large. They had picked up two in Connecticut. Four each in Missouri,
New York, and Pennsylvania, one each in Rhode Island, Virginia, South Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma and Illinois, on the basis of incomplete returns.

Former Senator James W.
Wadsworth, Republican, was elected to the house from the 39th
New York district. Cornelius Van derbilt Whitney, wealthy Democrat, was defeated in the first New York district by the incumbent, Representative Robert L. Bacon.

Speaker John N. Garner was elected from the 15th Texas district but plans to resign from that seat when he becomes vice president on March 4.

Smoot, Watson, Moses Lose
Four Republican senators, Dale of Vermont, Norbeck of South Dakota, Steiwer of Oregon and Davis of Pennsylvania were re-elected.
Nye was leading in North Dakota.

Colorful figures in both branches went down in defeat. Senator Smoot of Utah, Watson of Indiana, Moses of New Hampshire, Bingham of Connecticut and Glenn of Illinois were among the Republican casualties. Representatives La Guardia and Ruth Baker Pratt, both New York Republicans, also fell.

Of the 34 senatorial contests, the Democrats had won twenty-two and were leading in four states.
William Gibbs McAdoo was victorious in a three-cornered California race and Louis R. Murphy won in a like contest in Iowa, President Hoover's birthplace.

The nine states in which the Democrats seized senate seats were California, New York, New Hampshire, Vermont, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Oklahoma and Illinois.

ROBERTS WINS JUDGE FIGHT

Ashtabula Man is Re-elected to Position in Seventh District Court of Appeals.

Judge John Roberts of Ashtabula was re-elected to the seventh district court of appeals, made up of 14 eastern Ohio counties, by a vote of nearly two to one according to partial returns gathered today from Tuesday's election.

Roberts is said to have carried every county in the district with the exception of Monroe county, where Joseph R. Cook was favored.
Columbiana county gave the following vote for the office: Roberts 8, 102; Cook, 5,262; W. S. Metcalfe
5,421 and Clinton J. Wall 1,517.

The vote in Mahoning county was: Roberts 23,289; Cook 8,363; Metcalfe 9,531; Wall 10,314.

The county results: Commissioner, Getz, 1,670; McHenry, 1,112;

SYNOPSIS: About to meet death with her husband, Jervis Weare, in the rising tide, Nan finds the key to his prison where Robert Leonard had dropped it. Released, they creep up the passage out of reach of the water, only to find the trap door closed. They are blocked, with freedom in sight.

Chapter 49

"BRAN FOUND YOU"

ROSAMUND stood just inside Robert Leonard's door, waiting. She was drenched, her clothing torn. She had been half an hour covering the few hundred yards between the Tetterley house and where she stood.

"Bad night for travel," she said, looking at a half packed suitcase on a chair.

"Best for both of us. You'll finish us coming here like this. I'm off before you fit a rope around my neck."

"That's not the chief reason. Where's Jervis?"

"You'll have to dive to find him!"

Rosamund stood quite still for seemed to be in a hurry.

Robert Leonard shut the door sharply behind him. He thought regretfully of the automatic on the office table.

Bran pulled on his chain, growling, and Ferdinand said:

"We're calling for Mrs. Weare."

"I don't understand. It's Mr. Francis isn't it?"

"Where is she?" said Ferdinand sharply.

"I haven't the slightest idea what you're talking about."

"You'd better have I got back from a wild goose chase an hour ago, and I found a note from Nan to say she was coming here to find Jervis."

"I really don't know what you're talking about, Mr. Francis."

Ferdinand lengthened the chain, and as Leonard jumped back, the great dog ran snuffing up the passage. He pushed whining against the door Nan had stood behind Ferdinand with a quick movement flung open the other door, and was taken completely aback. Rosamund den dead silence.

Then Nan opened her eyes. Her gaze passed Rosamund and rested on Ferdinand.

"Did you find us?"

"Bran found you."

"Where's Leonard?" said Jervis harshly.

He and Ferdinand ran through the empty house, out into the raw, stormy dawn. They saw Leonard's car laboring toward the cliff road. They saw it lurch, swing across the road, the irresistible gale behind it.

A huge gust caught it like a chip. It dropped over the edge into the sea.

"Let's go back to Nan, F. F.," said Jervis.

THE THEATER

CERAMIC

A short time ago, RKO-Radio Pictures, in the announcing its new program for the coming year, promised the public stories filled with action and adventure.

The first of that new program will reach the Ceramic theater Thursday when "The Most Dangerous Game," featuring Joel McCrea, Fay Wray, Leslie Banks and Robert Armstrong opens for a three-day run.

"The Most Dangerous Game," has a strong romantic note, usually absent in thrillers. Based on Richard Connell's widely known prize-winning short story of the same title, "The Most Dangerous Game," narrates the unique experiences of a boy and a girl shipwrecked on an island owned by a sinister Russian who has turned his game preserve into a human hunting ground.

The action of the film is as breath-taking as its theme is daring. The dramatic opportunities of Joel McCrea are said to add further laurels to this handsome young actor who has been steadily climbing toward stardom. Fay Wray, as his shipwrecked partner, has a role full of delicate nuances and strong emotional scenes.

Leslie Banks, formerly of the New York and London stage, makes his motion picture debut as the menacing Count Zaroff, whose passion for hunting, leads him to a weird mania for tracking humans. Leo Carillo, Johnny Mack Brown and Dorothy Burgess, and "Scan" Robert Armstrong has a brief but important role as one of the victims of Zaroff's hunt.

"Lasca of the Rio Grande," with Dal For Sale, starring Charles Bickford and Rose Hobart, compose the double attraction being offered at the Columbia theater on Thursday and Friday.

Based upon the Frank Desprez poem, "Lasca," the story concerns a dark-eyed son of the dance halls, a tenderly murderous half-breed cattle owner who likes his women beautiful, and a handsome Texas Ranger in love.

The picture is packed to the brim with hard-riding, bellowing guns, lilting Spanish melodies, and romantic scenes, and is a photographic classic, according to reports. There is a thrilling cattle stampede, a rousing gun-fight between the half-breed's non-too-careful sharpshooters and the Rangers, and some of the season's choicest comedy, furnished by Slim Summerville and Frank Campeau.

Leo Carillo, suave star of the stage and screen, appears an ideal Jose Santa Cruz, Lasca's half Portuguese, half Indian admirer, and Dorothy Burgess, sensation of "In Old Arizona" and a host of hits, is Lasca. The erstwhile All-American football star and featured player of "Coquette," "Billy the Kid," "Montana Moon" and "Our Dancing Daughters," John Mack Brown, is seen as the strapping Texas Ranger.

There will be an Armistice program Friday at 11 a. m. in the auditorium, with Rev. David S. Lamb of the Methodist church as the speaker. The schools will be closed in the afternoon, but there will be a football game played with Lee-tonia at Lectionia in the afternoon.

On Thursday the schools will observe Visiting day in the grades and high school.

DOCUMENTS ARE HANDED TO SON

By The United Press.

DETROIT—Aubrey L. Hodges is in possession of an impressive collection of documents mailed to him by his father from Perth, Western Australia, through which the father asks the son to seek possession of some of the most valuable real estate in New York City.

The documents are intended to show that the Hodges are entitled to the property through a purchase by Robert Edwards and later a 99-year lease by him to his brother Cruzar. The lease was given during the Revolutionary War period and shortly afterward the brother returned to England.

Hodges' father claims the documents prove that his family trace lineage back to the Edwards brothers and therefore have a claim to the property even after all these years.

Hodges has not announced whether he will seek to press the claim.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT From Fledgling To First Citizen A CAMERA BIOGRAPHY

By The Associated Press.
ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 9. — The will to conquer made Franklin D. Roosevelt president-elect of the United States.
It made him militant in politics. It developed his ability to win votes outside party line. It motivated the genial, sympathetic qualities typified by his famous campaign smile and the ringing timbre of his fine voice.
He eschewed the social distinction to which he was born and the prospects of a comparatively placid life as a big city lawyer of independent means, choosing instead to follow an ideal of public service.
Not even the tremendous phys-cal handicap imposed by infantile paralysis which, in 1921, deprived him of his powers of locomotion, could turn him from that course.

Won First Office at 28.
He was only 28 when he won his first office, a seat in the state senate of New York from Dutchess county. It was just that many years ago since the voters of his native community had sent a member of his party to Albany. That had happened in 1882 and Roosevelt was born January 30 of that year, at Hyde Park.
There a big estate flanking the Albany Post road and overlooking the hill-embowered Hudson had been the seat of his family since the first part of the 18th century. It is still his home.

The parents of the president-elect were James Roosevelt, a fourth cousin of the 26th president, and Sara Delano Roosevelt, member of a family which had a firm place among New York's socially elect. Franklin's educational program of Groton school, Harvard and the law school of Columbia was in consonance with the family position.
Wed to Fifth Cousin.
Toward the end of his first year in law school, on March 17, 1905, he married Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, a fifth cousin. A place with one of the big law firms of New York was ready for him on graduation, but after three years as a junior attorney he quit this work to go into politics.

In the next ten years he worked from the state senate to a place in the national councils of his party. He was assistant secretary of the navy in the world war and vice-presidential nominee in 1920. The Harding landslide marked the end of this decade.
Thus far the Roosevelt ship had sailed swiftly and surely before favorable winds. An uncharted reef changed all this.
There is a Roosevelt summer home at Campobello, New Brunswick. There the family of father, mother, daughter and four sons were wont to pass the hot weeks of mid-summer swimming, fishing and cruising about the coast in sail or motor boat. Roosevelt came out of the cold surf one day in the summer of 1921 feeling a bit chilly.

Stricken With Infantile Paralysis.
A few days later he was stricken with infantile paralysis. For a time his life was endangered. Then he came slowly back, but the disease had left him without use of his limbs.
For the next seven years virtually all his time was occupied in fighting to regain his ability to walk. By the time of 1924 Democratic convention in Madison Square Garden the stricken Roosevelt was able to go to the platform on crutches, stand leaning against a desk and present the name of Alfred E. Smith, "the happy warrior." Warm Spring, Georgia. It was found, benefited him and he spent months there each year. Gradually the atrophied muscles responded to constant effort at use, chiefly to regaining a complete swimming stroke in the warm pool. When the 1928 convention assembled at Houston, Roosevelt again was on hand to nominate Al Smith as party standard-bearer and this time the nomination went through.

Roosevelt went back to Warm Springs, Smith, in New York, wanted a strong gubernatorial candidate to help the ticket in his pivotal home state. The suggestion that Roosevelt run was sent to Georgia.
Elected Governor of New York.
Mrs. Roosevelt hurried north, met the party leaders and announced that her husband, because the campaign effort might set back his fight for physical restoration, did not want the place. Party leaders called him on long distance telephone to urge him to run and one of them, thinking to encourage him, said:

"There is every likelihood that you will be elected."
"Yes," replied the reluctant candidate, "that's the best of it."
But he yielded to the pleas of party necessity, ran 125,000 votes ahead of the national ticket and squeezed into the governor's office. Two years later he was returned by the record plurality of 725,001 votes.
After that no "stop Roosevelt" movement could stay his progress to the White House.

Tuesday's Verdict.

Voters throughout the United States have given the Democratic party its greatest opportunity to be of service to this nation through state, congressional and county offices and up to the presidency. There has been a clean sweep of Democratic victory.

Voting districts whose Republicanism is tradition either have turned completely Democratic, or witnessed the unusual sight of strong Republican candidates fighting Democrats for slight marginal victories. Ohio, which has gone into the Democratic column only twice since 1896, lined itself up solidly behind Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt. The Democratic trend that revealed in 1930 reached a climax Tuesday. The proportions of their victory in Ohio and in the nation leave even the most hopeful of Democrats surprised.

They dared not believe the protest vote would reveal itself in such gigantic proportions. Significantly it was a vote against "ins" particularly Republican "ins." Democratic office holders fared better. The political importance of the wholesale replacement that has been made is tremendous. To help the new Democratic president in the White House are a Democratic senate and a more strongly Democratic house of representatives. To help the party, lean after many years of minority position, is the vast patronage of the federal government.

For President Hoover at this time his friends have nothing but frank recognition and gratitude for his qualities as a clear thinker, an honest leader and a good fighter who went to defeat with colors flying and sword flashing. Promptly and gracefully he telegraphed President-elect Roosevelt congratulations and the proffer of complete cooperation.

Fate has given more power to the Democratic party than it ever possessed before. The nation looks forward now to accomplishment of some of those things the party has promised.

Swapping Menaces

Americans, fortunately, don't think of marching on Washington when the voting doesn't go to suit them. Germans do. It is a clear contrast between the relative stability of government in this nation and the government in the nation which was to have been saved when the world was made safe for democracy.

Herr Hitler, leader of the National Socialists, started down the skids in last Sunday's elections, as it was predicted he would. Many things have contributed to his growing weakness. Most important is the clever theft of his thunder by a cabinet and chancellor who have matched him for the first time in saber rattling.

Germans have been voted to exhaustion in the last year. Americans are able to understand what it means, now that they are through with a presidential campaign. Germany has more political excitement in 365 days than this nation would be willing to face in a decade and a half. Its citizens have lost interest in voting, particularly because they realize that they have been voting for seats in a parliamentary body that will not be allowed to function.

But if Germany gradually is writhing itself free of what the world regards as the menace of Hitlerism, it is stretching itself in the path of another menace, a thousand times more frightening. Communists polled the third largest vote of Germany's innumerable parties. They finished with almost half as many as the Hitlerites. It will be greatly surprising if, in the turmoil of German politics, Herr Hitler and his followers are not forced eventually to stand with the lesser of their two enemies. Hitherto, the almost innumerable parties of the reich have been fighting each other. The rise of Communism may force them together for the purpose of facing a common enemy.

From Rotterdam to Marseilles

Most Americans never will go from Rotterdam to Marseilles on a continuous inland stream of water. For that matter, most of them never will go through the Panama canal on their own continent or most of the great canals in their own nation.

A canal, being a major alteration of the works of nature, has fame in its own right among people who never see it. Children learn about them in geography as part of the earth's wonders that man has established and which will remain forever.

From Rotterdam to Marseilles—from the North sea to the Mediterranean without once going into them—is one of those ambitious dreams of men that is destined to be a subject of conversation decades before it can become an important part of the waterway system of the world. Although relatively little is known about it on this side of the Atlantic, it occupies the same relative position in Europe as the St. Lawrence seaway occupies in the United States.

Interest has been given fresh vigor by completion of the new Alsace canal and power plant at Kembs, France. Though the fact will not be recorded in the newest of the new geographies and though its connection with the voyage that some day may be taken from Rotterdam to Marseilles is remote, it is a step—a step similar to completion of the Wellington canal. Alone such steps mean nothing; together with others to be taken in the future they are vastly important.

From Rotterdam to Marseilles through some of the most beautiful country in the world. Parallel with the storied Rhine will run a better river made by man, all the way to Basle. Then a cut-back to the Rhine and down through southern France to Marseilles and the Mediterranean. Gone forever would be the peril of the long voyage down the coast and around Gibraltar. Few Americans and few Europeans will live to do it, but all can appreciate the magnitude of the conception which, step by step, is being translated into canals and power plants.

Organized Mercy.

The best promotive literature the National Red Cross could issue in preparation for its annual roll call, opening Armistice day and closing Thanksgiving day, is its own report of the year's work. That report, published as news in most American newspapers this week, gives Americans an idea of the scope of Red Cross operation.

The organization is fortunate in having few bitter enemies. There have arisen from time to time violent disagreements over phases of its work, but the soundness and honesty of its foundation principle are unquestioned. Found as an instrument to salvage human life from the wreckage of war, it has expanded its conception of service, especially in the United States, to include relief to those afflicted with the misery of catastrophes. It is no undue extension of limits which has caused unemployment to be placed in the legitimate field of Red Cross activity.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932, the National Red Cross expended $3,587,282 for relief to those suffering from droughts and other causes beyond their control. To this sum, if a proper conception of the organization's service is to be gained, must be added an estimated expenditure of $2,215,000 made by 2,275 Red Cross chapters in unemployment relief. This work was done, for the most part, by more than 4,000,000 men and women enrolled in the last roll call.

The Red Cross, facing frankly the tremendous task of relief that will be laid before it this winter, wants to increase its membership. In the United States, as in virtually every other country of the world, it represents efficient organization of relief—probably the most perfect manifestation of human desire to help others that has been made on a large scale. Its purposes and its operation are worthy of the highest commendation. Americans who want to help cannot afford to overlook the possibilities offered by the Red Cross.

Hasty Justice.

Citizens who complain that justice moves too slowly through this nation's courtrooms will be interested in a supreme court decision sending the Scottsboro case back to state courts because justice moved too rapidly. Seven Negroes convicted of assault on two white girls and sentenced to death for the crime will be given whatever advantage may result from a more deliberate procedure.

There is little capacity in northern minds for understanding the case. An inclusive viewpoint, however, allows admission of the fact that a probable majority of the dominant race in Alabama commended justice for fairness and promptness which appear to residents in northern states to have been signs of insufficient preparation of a case involving a penalty of death for a crime in which facts were insufficiently established.

In this aspect the case is similar to California's Mooney-Billings case. For years public opinion throughout the nation has been brought to bear on California governors and courts to undo a conception of justice forged in the passionate heat of war hatred. But the state has remained adamant through it all, tacitly, it has confessed its satisfaction with an act universally condemned as an injustice.

It is not the function of any newspaper to pre-judge. As the Scottsboro case goes back to Alabama courts, it is removed from public discussion. A national population which has an apparently limitless capacity for interest in the conduct of justice can express itself as well satisfied with a decision of its supreme court which gives seven condemned youths the privilege of reconsideration for their case.

Other Editorial Opinions

PERFORMANCE OR PROMISE.

In his Indianapolis speech Friday night, President Hoover said:

"I do not have to engage in promises. I may point to performances."

This is a good point for the voter to consider when he goes to the polls on Nov. 8 to choose a man to head the United States government through the next four years.

Gov. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee, in the course of his campaign has made extravagant promises. He promises the panacea for our economic ills. It is the promise of a theorist.

President Hoover has given a practical demonstration of his ability to lead this nation out into the light of the happier day.

While the Democratic nominee has stormed up and down the country making charges of Republican incapacity and mental flabbiness, the President has remained faithful to his trust, exalted by his tasks, inspiring confidence by his own example of faith in the fundamental stability of the nation.

"I shall not be deterred from my purpose to lay before the people the truth as to the issues they confront; I shall do it in the sense of responsibility of one who has carried and must continue to carry these issues into action."

The voter has his choice. Will he take one who by the example of performance earns the right to continue leadership, or will he accept one who attempts to win on vague promises, seeking to beguile with untried theories?—Toledo Times.

Highlights of Ohio History

AN OHIO GOVERNOR'S HOME LIFE IN 1825.
By J. H. Galbraith.
For The Associated Press.

Bernard, Duke of Saxe-Weimar, a German nobleman, visited the U. S. in 1825 and while here toured Ohio, was the guest of Governor Morrow and a little story left a picture of the governor's home life. The home was on the Little Miami river, near Lebanon. He wrote:

"The dwelling consists of a plain frame house, situated on a little elevation not far from the shore of the Little Miami and is surrounded by fields. The business of the state calls him once a month to Columbus and the remainder of his time he passes at his country seat, occupied with farming, faithful copy of the Ancient Cincinnati."

"When seated around the chimney fire in the evening, he related to us many of the dangers and difficulties the first settlers had to contend with. Their children are settled and they have with them only a couple of grandchildren. When we took our seats at the table, the governor made a prayer. There was a Bible and several religious books lying on the table."

Words of the Wise

He who has to do with foxes must look after his hen-roost.

And we pass away out of the world as grass-hoppers.

It is hard to pay for bread that has been eaten.

What hath lost his freedom has nothing else to lose.

He that spareth his rod hateth his son.

When wine enters the head the secrets fly out.

He who would save begin with his mouth.

New York Day By Day

By O. O. MCINTYRE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The turn of the Rialto's fortune wheel has spun players into bewildered helter-skelter, especially lesser vaudeville performers. Their only oasis now is the "grind show"—and how appropriately named!—where the programs are a continuous grind.

Whereas one headline appeared as vaudeville's last stand, the Palace, five, sometimes six, now such temples as the Capitol, Paramount and Loew's. And they toss in a feature picture and a run of news events for good measure. Increased expenditure is met by increased patronage.

Topnotch players must appear at four shows a day and, for most, it means idling about their dressing rooms in costumes from 11 a. m. until 10 p. m. If they go anywhere, they must rush back for the next performance. Sometimes they go to dinner and cocktail parties in costume.

But most of the artists have become reconciled to backstage tedium, and indulge in backstage partners or those on the same bill. Even old-fashioned jack-straws have been revived. Salaries for "grand shows" have not increased and are not likely to.

A preposterous mistress, the theatre! Any other class of artists would have turned to other pursuits for a livelihood, with the stage as it is. Yet the most sensitive people in the world hang on and on. What to many is tough luck, to them is an exhilarating gamble.

It exists in every calling I suppose—hanging on when the public yawning a finis looks the other way. But it seems more pronounced in the theatre. Twice this season I witnessed the calvary of splendid souls. Each was a deservedly popular star of other days, but the fickle parade had passed them. There was no material need, but they simply could not quit on the top wave. So, the undertow took them. I can think of one star who quit in time—Maud Adams. And she clouded her lustre with a farewell tour.

Things bobbed: Alexander Woolcott writes Neysa McMein, long time friends, a letter every day when traveling. Hugh Walpole likes a dish of ice cream for breakfast after a night out. . . . Fifth Avenue signs to all boy-friends are said: "Your Boy"—Somerset Maugham and the late Arnold Bennett, both pronounced stutters, never stuttered when they met. . . . Barney Gallant quits the Village for uptown next season.

There is meaty stuff for a high-toned philosopher in a new harness shop—of all things!—along that fashionable strip of Madison avenue in the 50's. I remember the proprietor in a clean but shabby shop in West 47th street. I once mused before it, cogitating the certainty of its eventual extinction. Then, one day, I stepped in to have a harness made for a dog. I not only was impressed with the service but the quality of workmanship. Now, with a burst of early Victorian nerve, he opens on a grander scale. A bigger and better saddlery and harness shop jettisoning out of a cataclysmic downpour! That's something over which a few of us thin-skinned grumblers, merely waiting to slip back into primal ooze, might ponder.

And on an upper reach of Broadway, opposite the Ansonia, is a pert boutique that heralds itself as "My Man's Shop." In a hurried passing, it offered a bright gaudy, entirely in tune with a torch singling era.

Gilbert Miller no longer is the greatest trans-Atlantic commuter. His place has been usurped by the boudoir dramatist, Frederic Lozada, who also has added Hollywood to his itinerary. He has so budgeted his time that, with mathematical precision, he spends one-third of his time in London, one-third in New York and one-third in Hollywood.

I notice the renaissance of growl rushing in the billow-fronted Yorktown bier-stables. Walking across East 86th street the other dusk, I saw a half dozen emerging from this place, and with foaming pitchers and buckets.

In my self hair-cutting hall-room days with Wilson Burke, in Cincinnati, one of our minor deceptions was larding or buttering the inside of the growler. This reduced food and resulted in more of the solid article. In other words, a well-greased nickel growler produced six glasses, instead of four. And that stop that screaming and wringing young lady!

How To Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND.

OF all the contagious diseases of childhood, scarlet fever is the one most feared. It is a dreadful ailment because of its possible complications. Parents ask questions regarding it. I have received many requests for information concerning the value of serums and vaccines in the treatment and prevention of scarlet fever.

We are indebted to Doctors Dochez and Dick, whose brilliant work has awakened the hope of a cure and prevention of this disease. These scientists have developed the so-called "scarlet fever anti-toxin."

Though this toxin is not successful in all cases, it appears to be of tremendous value in the majority of instances. It is injected into the vein of the sufferer and aids in preventing complications. Five thousand "units" of the anti-toxin serum are injected into the vein. If injected into the muscles, ten thousand units are necessary. Your doctor will attend to this.

The vaccine is administered to children who are found susceptible to scarlet fever. This is determined by the "Dick test." This test for scarlet fever is similar to the "Shick test," used to determine a child's susceptibility to diphtheria.

If the Dick test causes a skin reaction, it is called "positive." This means that if the child is exposed to scarlet fever, he will contract the disease.

The scarlet fever vaccine is given only to children who show positive reaction to the Dick test. Four or five doses of the vaccine are given at weekly intervals. In the great majority of children receiving these injections, protection is given against scarlet fever and this lasts for at least one year.

Many mothers object to this form of vaccination because they fear their children will suffer pain and discomfort. The discomfort suffered is negligible compared to the danger of scarlet fever. We must not be too soft hearted in such matters.

To prevent discomfort, apply wet dressings of boric acid solution to the arm. No serious reactions have been reported after the use of this vaccine.

Please bear in mind that scarlet fever is a contagious and serious disease. The heart, kidneys and other vital organs of the body may become involved and permanent disabilities result.

Every precaution should be taken to isolate a scarlet fever patient. Great care must be taken to guard the baby and other young members of the household from the germs of scarlet fever and other infectious diseases.

Progress has been made in the treatment and relief of scarlet fever, but unfortunately the number of sufferers is entirely too large. If you live in a community where scarlet fever is prevalent, take advantage of this protection against the disease. Consult with your physician or call at the public health station. You will be given advice and instruction.

The Reviewing Stand

By TOM T. JONES.

ANOTHER name has been added to the three always appended in former missives from Rev. J. Holmes Smith, former pastor of the Anderson Methodist Episcopal church here for more than two years, who has been stationed at Jubelpore, India, where he is connected with the Leonard Theological college in his missionary work in the far east.

Which means that to him and Mrs. Smith, who was formerly Miss Sylvia Shay of the Northside, this city, has been born a second daughter, Marian Ireno. She is now several months old, her birth having occurred during the early months of last summer at Kodakanal, South India, whither the parents and their older daughter, Kathleen, now two and one-half years of age, went to spend the interim when the heat of the country is at its most intense period.

There in the Missionary Maternity hospital, the newest member of this East Liverpool missionary family in India first saw the light of day. And there, too, her parents were enabled to mingle during this interval of visit with friends who are members of the South India conference. The place is exceedingly lovely from the letter of Rev. Smith who has just written friends and former associates in East Liverpool. Springfield, Mass.; Louisville, Ky.; Canton, O., and towns in New Jersey in which he and Mrs. Smith were located before negotiating the wide expanse of water to the present station.

East Liverpool friends and others who were permitted to see Kathleen, then a mere babe just before their leaving this city for England and India, will be interested in knowing that she is contributing much to the gaiety and happiness of the home which is here in this far away land. "She has invented a new numeral," her father related in his missive. "The other day she surprised us by counting thirteen, fourteen, ovaline."

He noted also that following her romping about she is usually too hungry at the table to await the completion of grace by her father. This latter departure she is inclined to attempt to terminate by uttering "bus" which is the Hindi designation for "enough."

ONCE OVER

By J. J. Mundy.
An Unfair Employer.

It is unfair, Mr. Employer, for you to insist upon any girl employed by you, accompanying you to dinners, dances or other places of amusement.

It is not sufficient excuse to say that the girl herself has never made any objection to your proposals.

This does not indicate that she is anxious to be your companion on auto rides or other sorts of amusements.

She may do so because she thinks it necessary to retain her job.

You may have expressed displeasure when she at first demurred when you asked her to go to dinner with you or perhaps to the theater.

It became evident to her then that you expected her to do your bidding as a social as well as a business assistant.

Isn't this unfair to a girl? It is really pretty rotten of you to create the impression that she might lose her position if she refused to accede to your requests.

Jobs are hard to get and girls know this.

They do want to hold the places they have.

But nothing but their ability to do their work should have any bearing upon retaining a good position.

When the cooling monsoon rains had fallen in July Rev. Smith and his family returned to Jubelpore where they found the largest first-year class in the institution's history. He declared these students are a most promising group of students and that they hail from every section of India, Malaysia, Burma, Assam, Bengal, Punjab, U. P., C. P., Gujarat, Travancore, Madras, Bombay and Hyderabad.

"And what splendid fellows they are, potential disciples of Christ in this changing east," he wrote. "One of the finest of them is from the Lushai Hills of Assam. Only 30 or so years ago, those people were a race of head hunters. Now they compose a strong, largely self-supporting Christian community. This is only one instance of the transforming power of the gospel, the evidence of which we see all about us."

Rhyme a Day

BY ALINE MICHAELIS.
Life Led to Love

She loved tossed sea-foam and the rose.

And all fair evanescent things; The tide of moonlight as it flows, The lyric that the linnets sing.

She loved the fishing-sails that gleam With gold in sunset's mellow rays; She found the fleet mirage, the dream Of greater worth than common ways.

A dreamer, she, yet in the end Life led her to a little place Where every flower was a friend, Each dweller had a well-known face

And there she lingered, well-content, Relinquishing all once held dear, And finding glamour strangely sent To touch familiar things and near.

What wrought the change, how could it be That she who always wished to rove Had learned with clearer eyes to love? Life led her, and life led to love!

Seasons

The Spring comes lurking with a branch Of willow in her hand; The Summer beckons to far hills And wave-washed sand.

But Winter is a common scold, Her moods are harsh and fear, And all men flee her angry face For hearth-fire's cheer.

And so with life, when brimmed with joy Her flying hours prove, Men seek her ever-fresh delights, Forgetting love.

So, too, they turn, when fierce and bleak Life's pallid moments pall, To waiting love, and find its worth is more than all!

marked towards the development of atheism in China. He comments: "This is not simply China's affair. The menace is to all of Asia and to the world. If China can be annexed to the domain of atheistic communion do you not think that the apostles of Bolshevism will redouble their efforts to make of Asia one vast communistic state by throwing our India into bloody class strife? This is no sham battle. Clearly, it is no time for half-heartedness. Mr. Facing-Both-Ways is not the man of the hour. Let each of us face squarely this question: 'When whirlwinds of atheistic strife shake the world to its very foundations, where am I?'—with loyalty upon the side of Christ, or with laxity on the side of chaos?"

He mentioned the use of Negro spirituals by certain of the evangelistic parties which have been doing fine work by following Dr. E. Stanley Jones, famed missionary to India who several years ago had the distinction of refusing to be elected a bishop during a quadrennial assemblage of his church. It will be recalled that upon his then visit to America he made an address in the First Methodist church here.

D. E. STANLEY JONES, it will be recalled, is one of the distinguished speakers which Dr. Isaac Wood of Niles, then pastor of this church, brought to East Liverpool. The Negro Spirituals were utilized, Rev. Smith noted by the Burma Gospel Team which followed a stay of Dr. Jones at Jubelpore.

Following closely upon the ministry of Dr. Jones this aggregation of 14 young men and women left the community in a state of revival," he said.

"They took our hearts by storm," he related in his missive. "They achieved a remarkable fellowship having acquired a genius for imparting to others of their own religious experiences and testimony. Their radiance, their social freedom, their frank good-will and irrepressible humor have taught us much of what religion may mean to the health and body, mind and spirit. They made great use of the Negro Spirituals. These songs born out of pain in the heart of the American Negro seem to capture the hearts of our Indian people, and our hearts, too."

He disclosed also how those connected with the college, students and professors have been engaged in renewed week-end evangelistic activity. There has been organized "A Flying Squadron" which has been led by Professor Harper. It has had phenomenal success. The members of it have followed the methods of the Burma Gospel Team. During the summer vacation some of the members of this squadron also organized other squads which worked in their home districts.

Then he notes that which has been accomplished by the Reading Room team which has been led by Professor Griffith. Its members have had marked success also, he said. Then he mentions a library which has been conducted in the heart of the city, its reading room usually accommodates about 125 persons daily.

Then he declared that he himself had been aiding four fine men in the work among the servants of the compound in which they lived. A Sunday school and church service is maintained for them and their children at an hour in the afternoon when they are free from work. Several of these have been baptised and others are asking for baptism," he noted.

HE maintained that baptism is not indulged in without a certainty of heart experience by those taking this step. "A great deal has been accomplished in the breaking down of the caste feeling in the social times which we have with those lowly people, many of whom in Hinduism have been 'untouchables,'" he writes.

He also pointed out that upon his return journey from the South India conference to which he had referred in a previous missive to American friends that he had gone to Poona, a famous center near the west central coast of India. He had previously heard a great deal about the Christa Sova Sangha Ashram at Poona which means "Society of the Servant of the Christ," he said.

He noted that it consisted of 10 British and about the same number of Indian brothers. All live upon the basis of utter simplicity and equal sharing with all having all things in common. Most of these Englishmen who are connected with this society, he related, are graduates of Cambridge in England.

"Much of the time is given to the devotional life, with a distinctly Indian atmosphere about it all," he pointed out. "But there is also the service side, with work among the poor in a nearby village; work in a dormitory for students, Christian and non-Christian, who have an unusual type of fellowship; and a great deal of lecturing and deputization work by various brothers." He noted that "Father" Winslow is head of the order. He narrated also that Outram Walsh, one of the number, had recently visited Jubelpore and greatly aided with his vital message and spirit.

He said that this society was a noteworthy effort to remove the natural isolation between the Westerner and the Indian. "Its success is marked," he appraised. But he maintained that it is easier for bachelors to undergo the risks of a frugal life than for those to whom "God has given families."

He noted that this society is meeting with favor and is well regarded by the Indian people. He felt that the simplicity of life maintained by its members was such as to influence all to live with simplicity.

"I believe that God is urging us to do as simply as possible in view of the fearful need about us, so that we shall have a maximum to share with that need," he observed.

MINOR PARTIES' VOTE IS LIGHT

Norman Thomas Polls 1,021 on Socialist Ticket.

Socialist, Communist and other minor party candidates polled light votes in Columbiana county Tuesday, offering little opposition to Republican and Democratic nominees. The Communists entered candidates for most of the county offices.

Norman Thomas, Socialist nominee for president, received 1,021 votes; William D. Upshaw, Prohibitionist, 117; William Z. Foster, Communist, 86; Verne L. Reynolds, Socialist-Labor, 44. Frank Mcartney, Prohibition candidate for United States senator, polled 185 votes and I. O. Ford, Communist, 74. John Marshall, of Leetonia, Communist candidate for governor, received 86, while Aaron Watkins, Prohibitionist, was given 371.

The Communist candidates for county offices received the following votes: State representative, Mrs. Bertha Marshall, 84; county commissioner, James Babb, 94; Harry French, 66; prosecuting attorney, Roy C. Mahoney, 111; clerk of courts, Frank Fisher, 84; sheriff, Charles Reynolds 86; surveyor, Sidney Doremur, 84.

RECORD NUMBER IN SAN QUENTIN

By The United Press. SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal.—This state prison, for many years America's largest in number of inmates, today had 5,000 prisoners within its walls for the first time in its history.

Thirty-four newly arrived convicts increased the prison's population to the even 5,000 mark. San Quentin has 464 prisoners out at road camps, making the total roll 5,464, another record.

The prison, according to Warden James B. Holohan, is so congested two men are confined in every cell. A new cell block, however, and enlargement of an old block are being rushed.

ASKS DAMAGES FOR ACCIDENT

By The United Press. SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Andrew Wilbur, a dare-devil who risked his life many times by performing dangerous feats in the movies and at fairs throughout the country, appeared in municipal court recently seeking $2,000 damage for serious head injuries, which he claimed were inflicted when a heavy box toppled from a truck and struck him on the head.

Wilbur told the court that he liked to perform death-defying stunts, but that he suffered serious injuries when the box struck him.

F. D. Roosevelt Calm In Startling Victory

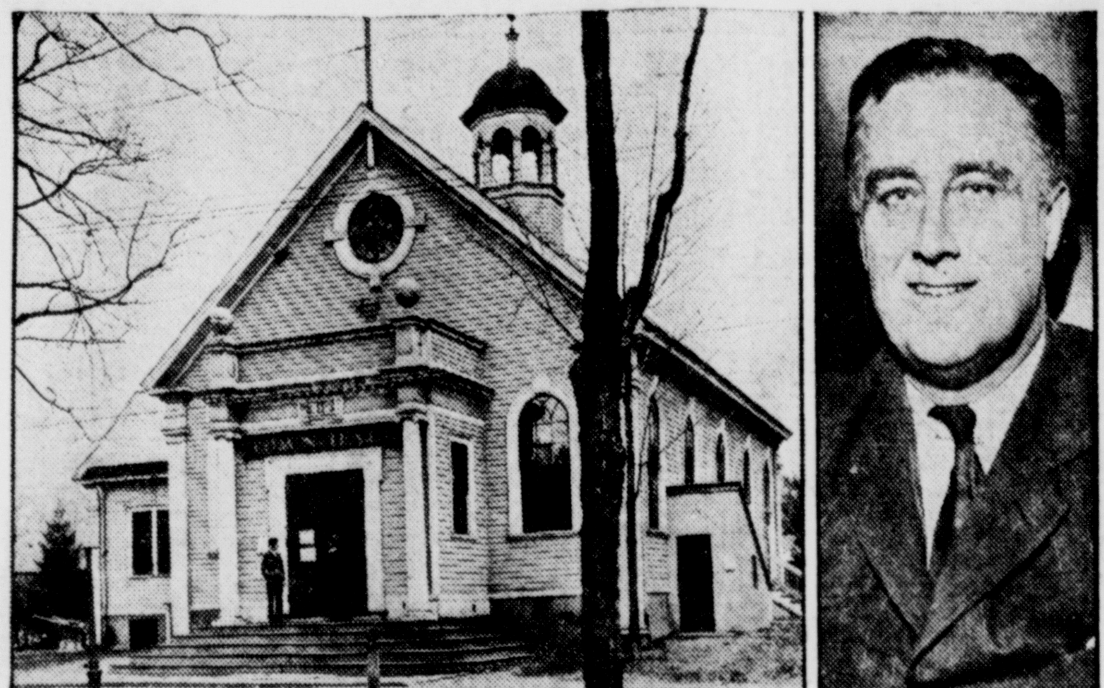

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—A calm man sat in a hotel room early today, doing arithmetic with a stubby pencil. You never would have guessed to look at his face—that he had just scored a vote victory that made the experts gasp.

Only the crazily chattering telegraphs and crashing cheers outside, would have told the story—that this was Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Calmly he sat, before rows of tabulators, checking the vast results to his own satisfaction. Calmly he departed at 1:45 a. m. from the smoke-filled room. He said before he went that he would have no formal statement until returns from the west came in.

Even the word that President Hoover had wired his congratulations did not move him.

EX-CONVICT AIDS POLICE

Man Detective Saved Gives Benefactor Tips.

By International News Service. CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 9.—The unnamed former convict, whom Ora Slater, Cincinnati's famous private detective, befriended in 1916 when Slater, then an Indiana parole officer, saved the man from going back to the pen, again has bopped up to give the sleuth a lift.

The first time the ex-convict helped Slater was during the Don Melleit murder investigation in Canton, O., in which Slater took an important part. The former convict, then in Canton, learned of a gangster plot to take Slater for a "ride," and tipped him off. As a result the gangsters were arrested and Slater was not molested in successfully tracking down the slayers.

Several months ago the former convict gave Slater information which led to the capture and conviction of three men who shot to death Mrs. Helen Lang during an attempt to lure up her and her husband outside their home at Ft. Mitchell, Ky.

Slater revealed recently that last week the former convict told him about the activities of three men he named as robbers of several chain drug stores. Slater passed this information to Cincinnati detective headquarters. Today city sleuths had under arrest Edward Potter, 26, and Dan Barnett, both of Newport, Ky. They admitted several drug store robberies, detectives said.

GROUP FORMED TO FIGHT CRIME

By The United Press. SUNBURY, Pa.—The county of Northumberland was organized in 1772 to suppress "people of loose principle" who made the Susquehanna river frontier of that day a wild and lawless place.

Old county archives told of the petition of law-abiding residents of the frontier to the general assembly asking that the lawmakers assent to the organization of a "county town, a courthouse and a gaol," to bring civil authority into the section.

The general assembly concurred in the petition, the boundary lines of a new county were set, and Sunbury was named the county seat.

JUDGE SENDS 424 TO JAIL

BUTTE, Mont.—Sentences totaling 2,400 years have been passed on 424 persons by Judge Jeremiah J. Lynch during his 26 years in office, a check of court records disclosed.

An unlucky 13 of the number who appeared before Judge Lynch received life sentences to the state prison, while seven were condemned "to be hanged by the neck until dead." Of the seven, however, four had the sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

gold rush, campaigned for the governorship on the economies he effected during his two years in office. He was a former Ohio congressman and former chairman of Democratic national committee. In 1912, former assistant secretary of the navy for aeronautics in the Hoover cabinet, won laurels as the only American naval ace at the front in France during the World war. He battled White on the grounds that the economies claimed were false and that Ohio was using red ink in its financial reports.

White Trails White

In the Democratic landslide Ohio returned Senator Robert J. Bulkley, Democrat, of Cleveland, to the upper house of congress. He ran ahead of Roosevelt but trailed the fast growing White total. His edge over Attorney General Gilbert Bettman Republican, Cincinnati, was slightly more than 115,000 in 6,265 precincts. The vote was: Bulkley 872,933; Bettman 757,817.

The Democratic avalanche carried two candidates for congress at-large and most of the state ticket into office as well as a majority of the Democratic district congressional nominees.

In the races for the two congressional seats, Charles V. Truax of Bucyrus, champion of the farmer, and Stephen M. Young of Cleveland, Democrats, were the victors over George H. Bender of Cleveland, a former state senator and L. T. Palmer, Middletown real estate man, Republicans.

Justice Marshall Leads.

For chief justice of the supreme court, Carrington T. Marshall of Zanesville, incumbent, trailed Appellate Judge Carl V. Weygant of Cleveland during early reports but jumped into the lead when the one-third mark was reached. Chief Justice Marshall took an 8,000-vote lead over Weygant with less than a fourth of the state's precincts reported. Weygant held an early plurality but Marshall's increasing vote soon threw the incumbent ahead.

WHITE WINS IN NEW WATERFORD

NEW WATERFORD, Nov. 9.—President Herbert Hoover was given a majority of 118 to 93 over Franklin D. Roosevelt by New Waterford voters Tuesday, but David S. 219 Democrats Win Places in Congress

Associated Press returns from congressional districts at 11 a. m. on contests for the 435 seats in the new house of representatives showed: Democrats elected 219; present congress 218. Republicans elected 68; present congress 209. Farmer-Laborer elected 0; present congress 1. Still doubtful 148. Necessary for a majority 218.

FULL DAY FOR WESTERN WIFE

By The United Press. CARSON, Wash.—That wives in this community still may have left a remnant of the pioneer's vim and vigor was proved recently when in the course of one day a farm housewife canned a bushel of tomatoes, did the week's washing for a family of six, prepared three meals for the same family, drove their car 60 miles to Portland and returned by midnight. Water for the same farm wife 30 years ago had to be hauled in barrels, mail was delivered twice a week by steamboat and horseback, and not even a dandelion grew by the roadside because a deep, virgin forest surrounded the community.

FREE MILK FOR NEEDY CHILDREN

By The United Press. HARRISBURG, Pa.—Every needy undernourished child in Pennsylvania will be given free milk under the plans of the State Health Department.

The department is organizing county units to provide milk for needy children, especially during the coming winter. The distribution is financed by an allocation of federal relief funds by the State Emergency Relief Commission. For October, $100,000 was set aside for the work. A careful canvass was instituted in all communities severely affected by the depression to determine the number of children needing milk.

HANCOCK COUNTY DEMOCRATS GET FOUR MAJOR JOBS

JOSEPH FINLEY IS DELEGATE TO ASSEMBLY

Tope, Stewart, Bambrick Ride Avalanche of Votes.

EVANS IS WINNER

Three Other Nominees On G. O. P. Ticket Are Victors.

Hancock county Democrats captured four major offices Tuesday, on the face of returns from 10 out of 21 precincts. The victory was the biggest political upset in the history of the county. Only one Republican who was opposed was able to win, while three unopposed G. O. P. candidates were elected.

The biggest surprise was the victory of Don G. Stewart, Democrat, of Holliday's Cove, over County Clerk Robert R. Hobbs of Chester, who was seeking re-election. Joseph N. Finley, of Chester also staged an upset by gaining a lead of 300 votes over Armour S. Cooper of New Cumberland for representative to the house of delegates.

J. Alfred Tope, Democrat, of New Cumberland, former sheriff, is leading his Republican opponent, U. M. Orr of Weirton by nearly 1,000 votes in the 19 precincts. Stewart has a lead of 453 while G. L. Bambrick, New Cumberland Democrat, is 14 votes ahead of E. V. Fortney of Holliday's Cove. The two remaining precincts are said to be strongly in favor of the Democratic leaders.

Robert C. Evans, seeking re-election as county assessor, was the only Republican to win against a Democratic opponent, having a lead of 700 over James C. Cameron of Holliday's Cove. Frank L. Bradley, T. W. Minesinger and Thomas Garlick of New Cumberland, all Republicans, were unopposed for circuit court clerk, surveyor and county commissioner, respectively.

Justice of the Peace Arthur G. Allison and Otis Jackson of Chester, both Republicans, have been conceded the victory for the two justices of the peace posts in Grant district, both having substantial leads over A. C. Eckleberry, Democrat, of Newell, with six of the seven precincts in the district reported. William Smith of Chester and John Tabbutt of Newell, were unopposed for the two constable positions in the district.

Although the Democrats were swept into the county offices, both President Herbert Hoover and T. C. Townsend, Republican nominee for governor, were able to poll ma-

FINLEY IS LEADING

Joseph N. Finley, Chester lumber dealer and Democratic nominee for representative to the house of delegates, is leading his Republican opponent, Armour S. Cooper of New Cumberland by nearly 300 votes, with unofficial tabulations from 19 out of 21 precincts in Hancock county. Partial reports of the incomplete precincts indicate victory for Finley.

Justices of nearly 1,000 each in the 19 precincts reported. About 8,100 votes were cast in the county, Hoover receiving about 4,500 and Roosevelt slightly more than 3,500.

Carl G. Buchanan of Wheeling, Republican nominee for re-election as congressman from the first district, received a majority of about 200 votes in the 19 precincts in Hancock county, but was reported several hundred votes behind Robert L. Ramsey of Follansbee, Democratic nominee, in Brooke, Ohio, Wetzel and Marshall counties, where the returns are still incomplete.

PROHIBITION BASE CHANGE MARKED DRIVE

Democrats Made Bid For Progressives In West.

By BYRON P. ICE Associated Press Writer

Time alone can assign to 1932 its exact significance in the evolution of the American political system, but it is possible even now to catalogue some of the things which mark stand out when the historian of the future looks through the records of this troubled period.

Certainly it can be said that, in long retrospect, the campaign will appear notable for the political shift of base on prohibition; for the effort to bring the western progressives under democratic leadership; for the rise of the social party to new prominence; and for several changes in the tendencies and methods of the two old parties themselves.

Whether these turns in the road will be important eventually can not now be foretold. Any one of them may be the beginning of great things, or of nothing. At least they all are eloquent of the political state of the union in 1932 and surely they present interesting data for the student of national psychology.

Shift on Prohibition

Few political developments in recent years have been more spectacular than the swing of the major party candidates away from the present prohibition regime.

Other issues have had greater public notice in the last weeks of the campaign. The nominees have talked of the tariff, of the fundamental relations of government to private enterprise, and of many things besides; but all these discussions have been clouded by complications so that it is disputed how far either party has departed, if at all, from its previous tenets.

On prohibition, the case is much clearer. Both presidential nominees have directly asked for a change; which means that 1932 has seen one of the surges of political sentiment for which the historian always watches.

Two Questions Raised

Secession of a considerable group of the western progressive leaders from the Republican ticket does not in itself represent a new trend in politics.

Something similar has happened twice before within the last twenty years. In 1912 the Roosevelt progressive ticket polled 4,126,000 votes, and in 1924 the La Follette progressive ticket polled 4,822,000.

The historic thing about the 1932 secession is that after two unsuccessful attempts to go it alone as a third party, those western progressives who have left the Republicans are linking their fortunes this time with the Democrats.

Two of the most interesting questions which this campaign has raised are these:

Can the Democratic-Progressive alliance now be put on a permanent basis, so as to go forward in future campaign years as a working entity?

Can the tremendous gains made by the Socialist party in 1932 be preserved, even in large part, in future elections.

History Made

Aside from the alliances they

IN AIR ROMANCE

It was literally a case of being "up in the air" about each other when these two people, Lieutenant William Newton Crofford, Jr. U. S. N., and his bride, the former Miss Helen Elizabeth Neils, met aboard a plane during a coast-to-coast flight. The romance began at St. Louis, Mo., and climaxed at the altar in Washington, D. C., next day.

have made, and the gains and losses they have suffered, a good many other things have happened to both of the great parties.

The Democratic campaign geared itself to an appeal to liberalism, an informality of procedure, and a disregard of precedent unmatched for many years.

The Republican tradition of sitting tight, disregarding the roars of the opposition, and trusting to a normal Republican majority to do its work on election day, has been blown to bits. President Hoover's last-minute dash into the thick of the fray will be long remembered in party annals.

All in all, the campaign appears now to have made much real history, although the full measure of its contribution remains to be taken after the smoke has cleared away more completely.

STADIUM JINX TO OHIO STATE

By The United Press. COLUMBUS, O. — Ohio State has a football jinx which has kept up its mischievous work for 13 seasons.

It's known as the "stadium jinx" because no Ohio State team ever has won more than one Big Ten game in any season in Ohio stadium, which was completed in 1922.

Of 31 Big Ten games played in Ohio stadium, Ohio State has captured only eight. Opponents have won 15 times and there have been five ties.

This season Ohio State failed to win a single conference contest in the home stadium. Michigan defeated the Buckeyes, 14 to 0. Indiana and Wisconsin each tied Ohio, 7 to 7.

BICYCLE RIDER FINISHES TOUR

By The United Press. SALEM, Ore. — George M. Sanford, 78, of Oakland, Cal., a cyclist, recently rode into Oregon to complete 10,000 mile of his bicycle tour. His wheel was weighed down with bedding, cooking utensils, clothing and travelling equipment.

Sanford started his bicycle trip three years ago, after he had lost his job as a shipbuilder. He has visited nearly every state in the union.

OHIO COURTS DEFENDED BY JUDGE LONES

County Jurist Praises Procedure in Criminal Cases.

The new method of criminal procedure in the courts of Ohio was defended by Common Pleas Judge W. F. Lones of Wellsville in an address before the Rotary club Tuesday noon in the Travelers' hotel.

He was introduced by James S. Hilbert, chairman.

"We hear much favorable comment on the English procedure in criminal cases," declared Judge Lones. "However since the Ohio procedure was amended in 1929 I believe the English method cannot in any way be ranked any higher than ours."

"With these new laws which shorten and simplify the indictment, even that of first degree murder to a form similar to the British form, we can no longer say that Ohio is subject to the criticism heaped upon other states in the union."

"It is extremely important to get an unbiased jury in Ohio, even if several days have to be spent in the task. Many people favor the British system where a complete jury is chosen in 10 or 15 minutes."

"The reason for this is that the judge practically instructs the jury what kind of a verdict to bring in addition to commenting on the truthfulness of witnesses and the legality of the evidence. In Ohio the judge only charges the jury, leaving the dissection of the testimony and the statements of the witnesses to the jurors themselves."

BROKEN LEG IS PAINLESS

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 9.—Lawrence McGovern, 56, broke his leg recently in a traffic accident. He made no sound. He appeared to be unmindful of the fact. Bystanders gasped.

Then McGovern explained that it was a wooden leg. He also said he had insured it against accident.

WHEN YOU GET YOUR NEW WASHER BE SURE TO USE RINSO THE BEST WASHING MACHINE MAKERS RECOMMEND IT

YES, I'VE HEARD HOW MUCH WHITER RINSO WASHES CLOTHES, I MUST TRY IT!

THESE SHIRTS LOOK BRIGHTER THAN EVER, MABEL. ARE YOU USING YOUR NEW WASHER?

YES—AND A MARVELOUS NEW SOAP—RINSO. IT GIVES THE RICHEST SUDS I EVER SAW AND THEY'RE SO EASY ON HANDS

White-as-snow washes ...this safe, easy way!

YOU'LL see the difference at once. The whitest, brightest wash you ever saw! Safely.

No wonder the makers of 40 famous washers recommend Rinsol. No wonder millions of women all over the country will use no other soap on washday. It's all that's needed, even in hardest water. Cup for cup, Rinsol gives twice as much suds as light-weight, puffed-up soaps.

And how those suds loosen dirt! Great for tub washing. Rinsol soaks out dirt—saves scrubbing and boiling—saves the clothes! Get the BIG box of Rinsol. Try it for dishes, too—it's so easy on hands.

Millions use Rinsol—it's so easy on the hands

Protect your husband's digestion

Don't load pie-crust with indigestible fat

Perhaps your husband just loves pie—but he may think that pie-crust doesn't agree with him. Then examine your shortening to see if it's to blame.

Smell your shortening. Taste it. Then open a sanitary can of Crisco. Smell Crisco. Taste it. No strong-smelling or stale-tasting fat there—Crisco is as sweet and fresh as new-churned butter.

Crisco's own secret process keeps every spoonful in the can fresh and sweet!

Your family's digestion is safe with foods made with Crisco. For isn't it reasonable to believe that a sweet, fresh-tasting shortening will digest easily? Crisco does digest easily. It is a vegetable shortening.

Try delicious Old-fashioned Cranberry Pie on your husband tonight. A Crisco pie-crust tastes so flaky and sweet that he'll probably ask for a second piece—and eat it safely!

Darling, your pie taste so much better now—and they agree with me. What's happened?

Oh, I've stopped using ordinary fat. I've switched to Crisco. It's such sweet, digestible shortening!

No "baking-powder-taste" from Rumford! All the natural food flavors are brought out in baking—in general cooking too—by this all-phosphate powder.

The Wholesome RUMFORD BAKING POWDER

A genuine phosphate powder. Superior in baking quality and healthfulness.

Manufactured by the RUMFORD CHEMICAL WORKS General Office: Rumford, R.I., U.S.A.

Cheap fats may turn rancid or indigestible CRISCO [IN VACUUM-TIGHT CAN] stays fresh and digestible

THE DIGESTIVE ORGANS

STOMACH
DUODENUM
SMALL INTESTINE

At these 3 danger points, ordinary fats may cause digestive troubles. Crisco digests easily.

In the cooking school recently conducted under the auspices of The Review, Mrs. George Thurn used and recommended Crisco, the Modern shortening that digests easily

OLD-FASHIONED CRANBERRY PIE

2 cups cranberries
1 1/4 cups hot water
1 cup seedless raisins

1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt

1 tablespoon CRISCO

Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt. Add hot water and cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add cranberries, raisins and Crisco.

CRISCO PIE-CRUST

2 cups flour
2/3 teaspoon salt

6 to 8 tablespoons cold water
2/3 cup CRISCO

Sift flour and salt together. Now cut in your Crisco. For really digestible pie-crust, be sure to use the sweet-tasting, digestible shortening—Crisco. You will find Crisco is wholesome and digestible because it is creamy, not tallowy; sweet-tasting, not strong-tasting. Cut in the Crisco with two knives until consistency of small peas. Add only enough water to hold mixture together. Roll 1/8 inch thick. Fit into pie-pan as usual. Add filling. Over the top arrange strips of pastry about 1/2 inch wide, criss-crossing them. Fasten the ends of the strips to the bottom crust by moistening with water. Build up the outside rim with an extra strip of pastry. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) for 20 minutes.

FOOD PRODUCED BY UNEMPLOYED

By The United Press.

JOHNSTON, Pa.—Unemployed men working in "emergency gardens," produced food valued at $23,750 at an expense of $1,025, according to a report to the Rotary club here.

Adam Keppler, supervisor of the 950 gardens where jobless men raised their own food, estimated the produce yield from each plot was worth about $25.

While the men were busy in the gardens, their wives and other women worked in the "canning kitchen." Here 9,000 cans of fruits and vegetables were prepared, and 26 barrels of sauerkraut were packed.

It was planned to produce 24 more barrels of kraut.

OREGON PLANS PENITENTIARY

By The United Press.

SALEM, Ore.—An effort will be made at the 1933 Oregon legislature to have the criminal insane transferred from the state hospital to the state penitentiary.

"Care of such persons at our institution presents a constant menace to attendants and other patients," said State Hospital Superintendent Dr. R. E. Lee Steiner.

"Situated as we are, with no provision for barring the public from the grounds, there is every opportunity for passing articles to patients inside the building."

Steiner said he had found knives, hammers, and guns in possession of patients, smuggled in by outsiders.

THOMAS' NAME NOT ON BALLOT

By The United Press.

FREDONIA, N. Y.—Norman Thomas' name was omitted from the straw ballot conducted by the Normal School publication "to prevent smart-alec seniors who want to be different," from spoiling the results, Miss Marguerite Smith, editor, admitted.

Seniors who wanted to vote for Thomas charged that the name of the Socialist candidate for President had been kept from the ballot because the publication feared the results would show a Thomas victory, but Miss Smith answered them with the "smart-alec" allegation.

WELLSVILLE ASKS SPORTS LOT COST CUT

Lower Rent for Nicholson Field is Sought.

Members of the Wellsville board of education, at a meeting Tuesday night in the high school building, voted to ask for a reduction in the rental of Nicholson field, which is now $200 a year. The report showed that the average taken in at the games this season was $112. The present contract has one more year to run. Superintendent S. E. Daw reported that receipts from the Salem game played in East Liverpool amounted to $600.

The board signified its intention of becoming a member of the Ohio Association of Boards of Education. One of the principal objects of the association is to study and recommend new sources of revenue for the schools to relieve taxpayers. It has been suggested by the association that a direct sales tax, similar to the state automobile and gasoline taxes be enacted. Superintendent Daw reported relative to obtaining state aid that he had received a reply stating that there was nothing in the salary situation here that would interfere with their request being granted but requesting additional information.

It was announced that a meeting of high school bodies would be held at Lisbon, Dec. 5, for the purpose of discussing the tax question and its relation to the schools. The principal speakers will be Vernon M. Riegel, former head of the Ohio state department of education, and F. E. Reynolds, secretary of the Ohio Education association.

The resignation of Dorothy Saltsman Price as teacher was accepted. It was decided to close the schools Nov. 23, for the annual Thanksgiving vacation.

Announcement was made that the admission prices to the Wellsville-East Liverpool game Thanksgiving day would be 50 and 25 cents, following an agreement reached by the boards of the respective schools.

PASTORS WILL ATTEND MEET

Rev. W. T. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Chester, and Rev. M. Rudolph Miller, pastor of the Newell Presbyterian church, will go to Wheeling Friday, where they will attend a conference on "Evangelism," sponsored by the Wheeling presbytery.

The meeting will open at 2 p. m., and will also include a night session. Talks by prominent church officials will be featured.

CHESTER CLUB SEEKS SHOES AND CLOTHING

Women Plan Campaign to Aid District Needy.

At a recent meeting of the Chester Woman's club at the home of Mrs. G. Campbell Pugh in Louisiana avenue, Chester, plans were completed for a campaign for contributions of clothing and shoes for the needy of the Chester district. It was announced today, Mrs. J. A. Billman, the president, was in charge of the meeting.

Contributions, at the present time, may be taken to the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Clapperton in Dunwoody street, where they will be sorted, repaired and placed in condition for distribution. Plans are underway to secure the use of a storeroom or other public building as soon as possible.

The committee in charge of the work includes: Mrs. E. C. Caughey, Mrs. E. C. Baxter, Mrs. Elizabeth Clapperton and Mrs. R. B. Rutledge. This committee, aided by other members of the club, will collect the clothing and take charge of the repairing and distribution. Plans for other forms of relief work in the community will be discussed at the next meeting of the club.

Members of the Woman's club and other social and religious organizations in Chester have been invited to attend the semi-monthly meeting of the Board of Trade in Carolina avenue Thursday at 7:30 p. m., when a report of the Grand district unit of the Hancock county welfare board will be made.

The county board was appointed last week by the county court to handle the distribution of the Reconstruction Finance corporation's loan for relief work in the county. The Grand district group, composed of four members, will meet Thursday to organize and to outline plans for the work in the district. Members of the group are C. A. Smith and E. C. Stewart of Chester, and J. R. Manson and Mrs. Evan Ellis of Newell.

JOBLESS MEN PREPARE FOR COLD WINTER

Model Shantytown Is Established In Cleveland.

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 9. — A model shantytown—a veritable nation with its own president—bravely has reared up its head on a bleak section of Lake Erie shore here to afford winter's shelter to a destitute group of unemployed.

Dan Mild, 56, Roumanian Army veteran, is the self-appointed dictator of the settlement which already numbers more than a score of crudely built shacks banked high with earth. He is confident that his city of packing-case houses and tin shacks will grow by leaps and bounds as the full force of the winter blasts make the homeless seek a permanent place to "dig in."

Extraordinarily cheerful, he insisted that "nobody will starve this winter." He has only two laws to govern his recruits, first, be clean, and second, behave.

No Comment to Make

He would blame no one for his present plight brought on by three years of forced idleness. Asked for a comment on the national political situation, Mild mumbled:

"I have not got anything to say." Granted use of the home site by a railroad, the president of shantytown declared that their only need was clothes. He pointed to the shoes he wore and lifted up his feet, exposing the bottoms of them. They were solesless. He might have as well been in his bare feet.

He next displayed what once was an overcoat. At night he uses the ragged garment for a blanket on his cot.

"If we had something what we could wear, we would be happy," he said.

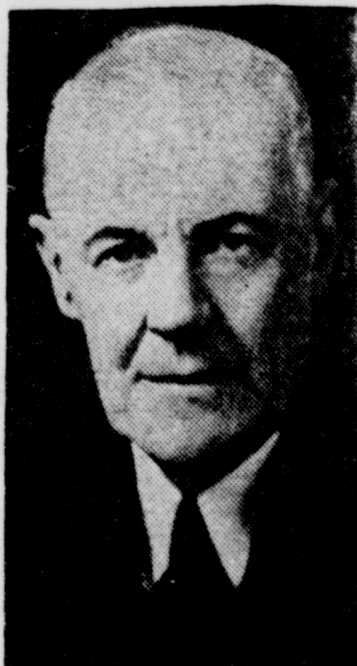

Headquarters Established

Headquarters of the city is Mild's shack. It is about six by eight feet square and even a small man has to bend almost double to enter the door. Ranging on one side was an old cot on which lay a pillow made from a cement sack. In another corner was a large lard can which served as a stove. In the third corner was a crude table, in the fourth a door.

Several of the dwellings are of more pretentious dimensions, boasting of a lean-to kitchen, as well as the combined bed-room and living room. One even had a radio. Another was a large packing case with one side constructed from old window panes. Its tenant proudly boasted it was a solarium. Several insurgents, have appeared in the camp, Mild admitted, but he said they were dealt with summarily and banished to a city dump nearby, where there are perhaps 10 other shacks.

Mild was cooking a pot of muligan stew when he was interrupted by the reporter's invasion of the camp. His quarters were scrupulously clean.

Misses Pipe, Tobacco

The only further comfort he could want, he said, would be cigarettes or pipe tobacco which he smokes greatly. He was offered one and the pack then passed from hand to hand among his followers and returned almost empty.

He disdained the offer of a match. He carries a piece of granite, a steel button strung on two springs and a tin can of charred rags. He twirled the button around on the string, it struck the stone and the sparks set fire to the rags with utmost precision.

Proud of his improvised lighter, Mild said he would "get along somehow" through the winter and that by spring, at least, "things may be better."

25 KILLED IN CUBAN STORM

Many Injured, Number of Houses are Destroyed.

By The Associated Press.
HAVANA, Nov. 9.—Twenty-five persons were killed, many were injured and a number of houses were destroyed today as a heavy storm struck the eastern Cuban provinces of Santa Clara and Camaguan.

These casualty estimates were reported to the department of communications from the storm area.

FIRE CHIEF TURNS FLIER

By The United Press.
CHICO, Cal.—Elmer Scott, assistant fire chief, is no airplane pilot, but when he found himself in the air without Pilot Billy Welschke, he grabbed the controls and landed the plane safely.

Scott was sitting in the cockpit and Welschke had just whirled the propeller when the plane took off. Scott maneuvered the ship over a grove of trees and power lines and landed it without mishap in a field half a mile away. It was his second trip in the air.

IMMENSE TULIP SHOW ARRANGED

By The United Press.
HOLLAND, Mich.—A bigger and better Tulip Time festival is planned here for the future. Oscar Peterson, city clerk, announced here recently with the arrival of 75,000 additional bulbs from Holland Netherlands.

The new bulbs will bring the total blooming plants over the 2,000,000 mark when spring festival dates arrive.

Thousands of visitors now visit the city annually to view the floral display and pageantry.

TEXAS PREPARES TURKEY MARKET

By The United Press.
CUERO, Tex.—Nearly 1,600 carloads of dressed turkeys will be shipped out of Texas for Thanksgiving and Christmas markets in the north and east, poultry experts have estimated. A carload usually contains 1,800 birds.

Local marketers anticipate a 10 per cent increase in the bird crop, which usually brings around $10,000,000 to poultry men. Texas produces over 3,000,000 turkeys annually, or an average of 31 turkeys per farm.

HOOVER LEADS BEAVER VOTE

County Gives President Slight Majority.

BEAVER, Pa., Nov. 9.—Beaver county, a Republican stronghold gave President Herbert Hoover a lead of only 653 votes over Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt with 93 of 100 precincts reported at noon today. The vote was Hoover 19,288; Roosevelt, 18,645.

United States Senator James J. Davis, seeking re-election, was trailing Lawrence H. Rupp, Democrat, by 65 votes in the county, with 93 precincts reported. Davis had 16,754 votes and Rupp 16,819. J. Howard Swick, Liberal-Republican, and Alonzo S. Gatchelor, Republican, had apparently won their fights for re-election as representative to congress and state senator, respectively.

Swick, with 211 precincts out of 276 in Beaver, Lawrence and Butler counties, was leading Sam B. Wilson, Democrat, 37,577 to 34,415. Gatchelor, with no reports available from either Butler or Lawrence counties, was leading John A. Meehan, 19,209 to 17,615. Beaver county gave Wilson a lead of 253 over Swick.

MAN SAVED BY SON'S BLOOD

CLEVELAND — Twice in four weeks, Lester Fulton, 18, gave blood in order that his father's life might be saved. But it didn't hand, cap his playing as left tackle on the Collinwood High School football team.

The second blood transfusion was made the night before the game with Cleveland Heights. Fulton said nothing to his teammates about it and played anyway. His team won and his father is recovering.

HECKLERS TOLD TO BE CAREFUL

Lenin would be delighted, perhaps surprised, to see that successful parade after fifteen years.

He would see millions of young Russians in and out of uniform taking Sovietism for granted, knowing czars and religion only as an old tradition.

The whole performance was watched by a Japanese gentleman named Yosuka Matsuo, Japan's special delegate to the League of Nations.

The Japanese are excellent "observers." All through the big war their military, naval and aviation experts "observed," learning all they could, and wisely KEEPING OUT OF IT.

FOR A striking example of the well-known "irony of fate" consider Samuel Insull, guarded by the authorities in a hospital in Athens. A man who has handled hundreds of millions, built the biggest power plants in the world, erected financial superstructures representing hundreds of millions, receives a string of oriental beads from a doctor who says to him: "Keep your hands busy with these, and avoid nervousness."

From hundreds of enterprises, totaling thousands of millions, to a small string of oriental beads, in what strangely different ways the world is governed. There is one man government in Italy, one man government in Russia, government by well-organized business in the United States, government that comes close to a democracy, with a king for a figurehead in Britain, government based on intense patriotism, thrift and common sense in France.

In China there is little or no government, in Japan government by tradition, directing energy.

HOW CAN you be safe in this world?

In ancient Greece the man warned by the oracle that he could be killed by a house falling on him, slept always out of doors. While he slept, an eagle, flying above him, dropped a tortoise on his head and killed him. It was the tortoise's house that did it.

Monday while Stanley Siegel drove his horse and wagon slowly across New York's Williamsburg Bridge, 135 feet above the water, a taxicab struck the wagon, knocked him over the railing, and into the East River. His body has not yet been found.

He was engaged to marry the daughter of his employer. The horse was not hurt, the taxicab driver is locked up.

ITALY SECURES UNIQUE PLANE

By International News Service.
ROME — A new Junkers plane which the Italian Air Ministry will put on for the passenger service between Venice and Munich, Germany, is being tried out here. It has a third wing, attached behind the bigger ones which allows it to slow down when about to land, from 120 kilometers an hour to 70 kilometers.

—when you require a tonic

...when you feel "tired out" ... "all run-down" ... "sluggish" ... "listless" ... "no appetite" — it is then time to pause and consider what may be the cause of this condition. If you suspect an organic or functional trouble of a serious nature consult a physician at once.

But if your vital organs are sound and you have thru overwork, worry, unbalanced diet, working conditions, "bad air," lack of proper exercise, unconsciously reduced your vitality and resistance, then restore your vital red-blood-cells and their hemoglobin content so that your blood arteries may have the oxygen to purify and strengthen your body.

For decades S.S.S. has been the preferred tonic for restoring hemoglobin to the red-cells of the blood. Start to rebuild now. You will surprise yourself. S.S.S. is on sale in all drug stores in two convenient sizes—the larger is more economic and is sufficient for a two week treatment.

WHOOOPS! A NEW USE FOR UMBRELLAS—Umbrellas have another use now. Pretty maidens of Venice, Cal., invert the umbrella and with a broom as a paddle, ride the breakers to shore.

YOUTHFUL UNEMPLOYED WANDERERS—America is worried over thousands of youths wandering across the continent. This picture, taken at San Francisco, shows weary youngsters riding on the beams of an old-style wooden freight car.

CAPTAIN LANCASTER AND MRS. MILLER IN LONDON—Captain W. N. Lancaster and Mrs. Keith Miller are photographed together in London for the first time since their individual return from America. Captain Lancaster recently was acquitted in Florida of a charge of murdering Haden Clarke, a young American writer, who was engaged to Mrs. Miller.

END OF SEARCH FOR MISSING AIRMAN—This scene on the island of Yami, in the Philippine archipelago, shows Aleko Lilius, right, leader of a Filipino constabulary expedition, to find the missing U. S. aviator, Glenn Brophy, giving an order to fire a tribute to the aviator, given up as lost.

COFFIN BANNED FROM WHITE HOUSE GROUNDS—A black coffin, brought to Washington by a Virginia delegation, with a resolution, was banned from the White House grounds. The resolution, sent by a group in Norfolk, demanded the stationing of two marines at each of Virginia's voting booths "to try to preserve the sanctity of the ballot and the will of the people".

A PRINCE ELECTIONEERS—Prince August Wilhelm, son of the former German kaiser, is seen addressing a National Socialists' meeting, during the recent German election campaign. The "Nazis", or Hitlerites, for whom the prince electioneered, lost considerable ground.

WELLSVILLE DRIVES HARD FOR ERIE CLASH

Bengals Potter Eleven Expected To Score More Than 200 Points

In Action On Friday

Strong-Vincent Eleven Will Test Power Of Abbeymen.

By ROBERT ELLIOTT

Sports Editor, The Review

THERE is nothing resembling a let-up in the camp of the Wellsville high school football team this week as Coach Frank Abbey drives his charges through their paces in preparation for the battle with Strong-Vincent high of Erie in the Pennsylvania city Friday night.

Abbey made no secret of the fact that he was more than disgusted with the 6-6 tie to which the Bengals were held by Lisbon last Saturday. Strong-Vincent's scouts witnessed the game and reported that the Bengals look like a powerful machine "zone state." A strict set of training rules was laid down for the Wellsville squad by Abbey this week and he stated that any regulars found guilty of breaking them will be banished from the squad, with no hope of return.

The fracas at Erie, to be played in the spacious Soldiers' stadium, is expected to attract a crowd of approximately 15,000 fans. It is a charity fray, and the Erie coach said that 9,000 tickets had been sold last week.

Abbey is more than anxious to make his debut in big-time football a successful affair and it will be a dangerous Bengal that will invade Erie two nights hence.

Despite the disastrous deadlock with Phil Bickle's Lisbon club it is not believed that Abbey will make any drastic changes in his starting lineup for the Strong-Vincent tussle. Wilson and Rini will be the ends; Snediker and Lindsay, the tackles; Long and Mellott, guards; Captain Roberts, center; Fulton, quarterback; Weekley and McLean, halfbacks; Jones, fullback.

STUDENTS AIDED BY HAIR TONIC

By The United Press.

SPOKANE, Wash. — The invention of a hair tonic, made from vegetable oils by Rev. Father Gilmore, S. J., has made it possible for many needy students to continue their education here at Gonzaga university. Quite by chance, the compound was discovered by Father Gilmore, at the behest of a bald student at Gonzaga.

"Father, you are head of the chemistry department and surely you can fix up something that will grow hair on my bald head," said the student.

The priest urged him not to be too hopeful, but said he "would try to do something." Experimenting in his laboratory, he developed a preparation that actually grew hair on the lad's bald head.

Since 1931, sales have reached 75,000 bottles a year, and profits go to Gonzaga university and considerable money is used to help needy students.

WEDS COUPLE HE DIVORCED

By The United Press.

INDIANAPOLIS — Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor Davis were married here by the same judge who six days before had granted them a divorce decree, ending eight years of married life.

"The only way to be happy is to be married," both said after less than a week of "single" life.

Judge William A. Pickens, who divorced and then married the couple in Superior Court, said as he performed the ceremony: "Whom God has joined together I have put asunder, and whom I have put asunder, I now join together."

RADIO TO SOON LINK PLANETS

By International News Service.

LONDON — Hinting of a radio message from intelligent planet dwellers in some far-off star system, Dr. Ernest William Barnes, the "scientist" bishop of Birmingham recently declared:

"We may find elsewhere in the universe teachers willing to give us their knowledge. I am certain that there are many stars to which life-bearing planets are attached.

"It is not merely possible but probable that in the course of time man will, by means of some variant of wireless, get into communication with intelligent beings on far-distant planets."

PETERSON WINS OVER SCHNEIDER

Last night's match in the City pocket billiards tournament was won by Peterson, who defeated Schneider, 100 to 35. The high run was 27, registered by Peterson. Tonight's match pits Parsons against Moore. The matches are being played at the Grand parlor.

DOCTOR WARNS THIEF.

By The Associated Press. GENESEEO, Ill. — Not that he ever expects to get a professional fee for his advice but a Geneseo physician has issued a little information for the chap who stole a package out of his automobile. The package contained a gown the doctor used in attending scarlet fever cases and it's chuck full of germs. The thief should burn it or see a doctor.

TWO CARIDEOS IN RAMBLER SQUAD

The name Carideo, written high in Notre Dame's football history, appears twice on the list of candidates out for this year's Rambler eleven. Angelo (left) and Fred Carideo are out to duplicate the feats of their famous kinsman, Frank, famous All-American quarterback. Angelo, like his brother, is a quarterback. Fred, a cousin of Frank's, is a fullback.

ARMENIAN BIBLE 742 YEARS OLD

By The United Press.

RACINE, Wis. — A Bible, reputed to be 742 years old, and handed down through 38 generations, is owned by Gregor Dergarabidian, an Armenian living here.

The text of the Bible was penned on 250 pages of goatskin, reputedly during an 11-year period ending 1190 A. D. by an Armenian priest named G-rabid — a name which bears similarity to that of the present owner. Notations indicate the scribe was interrupted in his labors on several occasions by anti-Christian activities which forced him to hide the manuscript.

The book is bound in wood covered with heavy goatskin. Inside the covers are lined with patterned cloth.

Chapter divisions are indicated by letters of the Armenian alphabet in use during the 12th century rather than with Roman or Arabic numerals.

12-YEAR OLD GIRL STUNTS

By The United Press.

ALAMEDA, Cal. — Larnie Bowman would like to pilot her own plane solo, providing she can do all the stunt flying she pleases.

But the government won't let her, despite the several hundred flight hours in her log book. Larnie is only 12. The Department of Commerce says she must wait until she is 16 for a pilot's license.

She likes stunt flying and thinks regular flying is too tame. Daughter of Martie Bowman, one of the Pacific Coast's leading women fliers, and Les Bowman, veteran transport airman, Larnie comes by her flying ability naturally.

Although she is too young to qualify for a Department of Commerce license, Larnie doesn't let a little thing like that keep her out of the air. She goes aloft with her parents, takes over the controls and settles down to do some serious piloting.

ONLY NATIVES TO GET JOBS

MEXICO CITY — Indications that the National Lines of Mexico will hold to the letter of the law requiring that only Mexican nationals be employed except in technical and directive posts, were seen in the decision of the appeal of a foreign worker.

William Barkow, who was employed in the Jalapa, Vera Cruz, shops, appealed his discharge after an accident and asked for indemnity. The federal council of arbitration and conciliation ruled against him, citing in the decision, the argument that under the labor law his post should have been given to a Mexican citizen.

TWO CONTINENTS ONCE CONNECTED

By The United Press.

BILLINGS, Mont. — Further evidence that Asia and North America once were connected by land recently was discovered here with the finding of teeth of the corybodon, an animal that flourished 25,000,000 years ago.

Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, director of the American Museum of Natural History in New York, notified George Shea, finder of the teeth, that similar teeth had been found by the Roy Chapman Andrews Gobi desert expedition. The corybodon was the largest animal of its time, a period when the eophippus, or early horse, and systemodon, a prehistoric tapir, both the size of a racing dog, existed.

MONEY STOLEN FROM SCHOOL

By The United Press.

ELYRIA, O., Nov. 8. — Add to the list of meanest thieves: The person or persons who broke into the Carlisle township rural school and stole $14 saved by children to buy food for undernourished pupils.

Cullen Leader With 42

Blue and White Offensive Has Tallied 156 Counters.

WITH its scoring record for the first seven games showing 156 points to the opposition's 29, indications were that the East Liverpool high football machine would tally more than 200 counters by the time the season ends. Three more tilts remain on the schedule, East Palestine, Cleveland Holy Name and, Wellsville.

Seven players have aided in the Potters' victorious march through the first seven games, with Harvey Cullen leading the individual race with six touchdowns and the same number of extra points for a total of 42. Bob Kapp and Mike Karcis, with five touchdowns apiece, are tied for second with 30 points. Garner McCoy, Woody McCoy, Bill Booth and Charles Pack have also participated in the Blue and White march by scoring.

Powerful Offensive

The Potters have not failed to score in any game so far this season. The lowest number of points to which they have been held in any one game was 12, scored as Martins Ferry gathered in a 20-12 triumph last Saturday, and also in winning from Salem, 12-6.

The Schachern combine collected 13 points against Canton McKinley, 39 against Toronto and one less in the New Philadelphia fracas, 28 against Lisbon and 14 against Midland.

The Potters have shown a rather bad weakness in converting points after touchdown. The local team has gathered 24 touchdowns, but converted only 10 extra points, six by Cullen, two by Booth and one each by Pack and Woody McCoy.

Locals at Full Strength

Fans expect the total number of points scored to be swelled considerably Friday night when the Potters take on Perry Van Hynling's East Palestine club under the Patterson field lights here. Palestine has been experiencing a rather mediocre season, but has high hopes of making up some previous disappointments by pulling a surprise on the Ceramics.

The Ceramic City squad will probably be at full strength for the first time in three weeks. It was doubtful, however, whether Halfback Garner McCoy or Bill Booth, end, would see a whole lot of service, unless Palestine proves tougher than anticipated.

Admission prices for the East Palestine fray will be 40 cents for adults and 20 cents for students. Faculty Manager J. M. Decker announced today. Lewis of Ambridge will referee the game, while Don Hamill of Steubenville will serve as either head linesman or umpire. The other official is yet to be selected.

The Potters' individual scoring records:

Player	T.	E.P.	T.
Cullen	6	6	42
Kapp	5	0	30
Karcis	5	0	30
G. McCoy	4	0	24
W. McCoy	2	1	13
Booth	1	2	8
Pack	1	1	7

Totals 24 10 154

Two points scored on safety in Lisbon game.

KING ADOPTS TERRIER DOG

By The United Press.

LONDON — Bob, a terrier, is the first dog in the land. He has not won a great dog show championship, nor has he made a gallant rescue at a fire, but he has just passed through his probation in the household of King George and has emerged with tail wagging as the King's favorite dog.

Bob now occupies the same position in his royal master's affections formerly occupied by the late and widely lamented Snip, who died some months ago. When accompanying his royal master to Sandringham recently, Bob was allowed to travel in the royal saloon instead of in the guard's van as hitherto, and showed his appreciation of the honor by vigorously wagging his tail.

HEAT CAUSES CORN TO POP

HYSHAM, Mont. — Popcorn sold by the ear instead of the bag, may be the fashion in Montana if all growers have the fortune of J. M. Lohof.

Harvesting a crop of the corn recently, Lohof found a large ear of the black variety almost completely popped open on the side turned toward the sun.

PENNSYLVANIAN CHAMP FISHER

By The United Press.

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Pennsylvania's champion bass fisherman is H. P. Shawkey, Warren, according to records of the State Fish commission here.

Shawkey caught 583 bass in 1931 and his most recent 1932 catch tallied 633.

He returned all of them except 16 this year and 26 last year to the waters from which he had taken the fish.

DOG SCORNS FIRE MENACE

By International News Service.

WALTHAM, Mass. — Faithfulness of a dog again was demonstrated when Rex, a large police dog owned by James McKennon, refused to abandon his watch as firemen battled a fire in the building. The dog remained where the smoke was the thickest and nothing the firemen could do would get him out.

The Yale-Princeton game at Princeton and the Notre Dame-Northwestern clash at South Bend, Ind., are the most important of this Saturday's gridiron meetings. The Ramblers meet a strong opponent in Dick Hanley's Wildcats who held Notre Dame to a scoreless tie last year. The Eli eleven meets Fritz Crisler's strong Tiger squad in the first of the clashes between the Big Three and winds up Princeton's schedule.

AMERICANS IN SNAKE SEARCH

By The United Press.

MEXICO CITY — A snake hunting expedition composed of Americans has left Mexico City for the region of Saitillo, Coahuila.

The snake hunters are William S. Wasserman, Philadelphia banker; George Howe, Philadelphia architect; and Douglas D. H. March, student of snakes.

The banker and architect have taken up snake hunting for the sport of it. March having studied venomous reptiles for many years, during which time he has been bitten 14 times, hopes to produce a new effective serum against their bites.

March recently spent much time in Honduras studying reptiles there. Among his tasks during the visit to Coahuila will be that of classifying snakes in that state after extracting the venom.

GIRL ILL FROM EATING PECANS

By The United Press.

FORT WORTH, Texas — Green pecans caused Clara Canada, 11, to suffer concussion of the brain.

The girl fainted from an attack of indigestion, fell and struck her head on the floor, hospital attendants reported. Her injury was not serious.

COACH DRIVER TAKES TO AIR

INDIANAPOLIS — Leonard Ferris, Civil War veteran, former state coach driver and friend of Jesse James, celebrated his 87th birthday anniversary here by taking a ride in an airplane.

Slim, white-haired and still bearing a soldierly attitude, Ferris enjoyed a ride with Sam Jones, a pilot, whom Ferris has known since boyhood. They were accompanied by Earl Zink, Ferris' grandson.

Ferris explained that during the stage coach days he became acquainted with Jesse James. "He stayed at our house sometimes," Ferris said. "We joked and swapped stories many times. He was jolly and kindhearted, not black like he has been painted."

HALL OF FAME MAKING GAINS

By The United Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 8. — The "Hall of Fame" at Ohio State University, in which are preserved pictures and trophies of athletic lore, is rapidly assuming imposing proportions. It is included in the men's gymnasium where photographs of outstanding athletes adorn the walls along with trophies of Western Conference championships in various sports.

The most recent addition is a complete set of full length photos of men who have won the Western Conference scholarship medal, an award given each year to the senior athlete who shows equal proficiency in athletics and classroom work.

The list of Ohio State men in this class begins with Arthur Kiefer, Columbus, in 1915 and ends with James Bachman, Wapakoneta, who gained the award last June. Kiefer was a regular on the football team and Bachman was a wrestler.

PAYS $25 FINE FOR JOKING POLICE

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Frank Battagelli, 18, sobbed mightily when police stopped him for speeding his truck down a boulevard. "I'm going to my cousin's," Frank explained. "He's dying." He told the officers where his cousin lived.

The police were sympathetic. "Follow us," they directed. Frank, with siren open, the police car sped down the street. Frank's truck clattered along behind. But at the address which had been given, no cousin could be found. And no one was dying. Frank paid $25 fine and surrendered his license for 30 days.

FACTORY MAKES TOO MANY TAGS

By The United Press.

HELENA, Mont. — Over-production of automobile license plates in the prison factory equipped to manufacture the plates had been reported.

Sales of license plates this year were far behind those of 1931. There have been 87,727 licenses issued for motor cars, compared to 101,911 last year. Truck licenses declined by approximately 3,000. Total receipts were said to be $203,894.51 below last year's.

Make no mistake about it—this is a big quality cigar

for real enjoyment

WITH the very first puff you get the luxury of full-bodied mildness. Nothing else can quite take the place of the real enjoyment that comes from an El Producto. It is the exclusive El Producto blending of unusually fine tobaccos that is the main reason for the distinctive character. But the workmanship has a lot to do with increasing your real enjoyment.

El Producto burns smoothly and evenly. You don't have to nurse it along—it holds its fire. Just smoke to your heart's content—all day every day—and as much real enjoyment awaits you in your next El Producto as the one you light first.

PENNSYLVANIA TRUCKS HELD

West Virginia Officials Enforce Retaliatory Measure as Result Of New Law.

Eight Pennsylvania motor truck drivers have been stopped and their trucks held by police in Hancock county pending the purchase of West Virginia license plates, as the result of a ruling of the West Virginia road commission, which requires similar action on the part of drivers from other states operating trucks in the Keystone state for profit. The trucks were held by Corporal R. D. Turley of Chesler. A recent act of the Pennsylvania legislature requires that all non-resident drivers who operate commercial trucks for profit in Pennsylvania, making 16 or more trips in one month, equip their trucks with Pennsylvania licenses. The order does not include privately owned trucks or pleasure vehicles, which are not used for profit. Several trucks have also been held in the county recently, Turley said, for overloading. Trucks were equipped about a month ago with a set of road scales for weighing loaded vehicles. Any truck found with a load exceeding the limit allowed by the state law, is held until the load is diminished. Second offenders will be punished, Turley said.

NEW YORK MAN 32ND TO ENTER WHITE HOUSE

Personal Pledge Made Of Government Cost Cut.

ASKS 'NEW DEAL'

Nine-point Program Marked First Address.

By KIRKE SIMPSON Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Franklin Delano Roosevelt will enter the White House as 32nd president next March, committed by party platform and personal pledge to a program of wide retrenchment in the cost of federal government to taxpayers.

Constantly reiterated, the pledge has been a major theme of the economic discussion which marked his victorious campaign. Repeatedly the president-elect has promised an effort to slash ordinary expenses of government by 25 per cent.

What that goal will amount to in dollars and cents will depend upon what happens to annual appropriations in the session of congress which convenes December to provide funds for the next fiscal year.

Preached Retrenchment Throughout his nationwide campaigning, however, Mr. Roosevelt insisted that a program of drastic retrenchment sufficient to reach a balanced budget was the essential step toward economic recovery.

This was the foundation stone of every auxiliary proposal he made for restoring trade at home or with other countries, for curing unemployment and for aiding farm recovery. It was even the basis for his insistence upon repeal of the 18th amendment and early modification of the Volstead act.

Mr. Roosevelt, during his campaign, made one definite pledge toward carrying out this fundamental step that went beyond the four corners of the Democratic platform. No man would be seated at his cabinet table, he promised, who had not pledged himself to loyal co-operation with his retrenchment policy.

In the course of his swing through the country on the most far-ranging campaign tour of any man elected to the presidency in years, Mr. Roosevelt filled in the outline of his purpose as president with detailed proposals as to many matters.

Pledges a New Deal They constituted the blueprint of the "new deal" to which he pledged himself, in his speech to the Chicago convention accepting the presidential nomination.

A nine-point program of remedies designed to prevent recurrence of the economic crash marked Mr. Roosevelt's first major address of the campaign, delivered at Columbus, Ohio, in August.

This program called for rigid scrutiny and control by the federal government of securities based on interstate commerce, and restriction of the use of reserve bank funds in speculative operations. As a principle of executive policy he pledged himself to avoid even implied government approval of private loans abroad.

An eight-point program for control of public utilities supplemented this general outline during Mr. Roosevelt's western tour.

This program included publicity for security issues, capital investment and indebted-

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color, 15c, 50c, 60c—Adv.
